

Fastenal Supplies “Building Wild,” New Series on National Geographic

Winona, MN – January 9, 2014 – Fastenal-supplied tools will be featured on the new show “Building Wild,” hosted by Paul DiMeo. We supplied everything from hand tools, power tools and bits, and driver accessories, to ladders, generators and fasteners – with a lot of that product falling under our Rock River exclusive brand. We’ve been told that Rock River held up just as well as, if not better than, the name brand equivalents in the market today.

Watch the Series Premiere

Learn more about the Building Wild TV Series

---

Media Contact

Sally Olson, Fastenal Marketing Manager – 507.313.7137, saolson@fastenal.com

About Fastenal

Fastenal [Nasdaq: FAST] is North America’s largest fastener distributor and an efficient source for a vast range of OEM, MRO and construction products. Supported by the company’s global sourcing and logistics operations, each of Fastenal’s 2,600+ stores tailors its inventory and service to meet the needs of local customers – making regular service calls and same-day deliveries, managing a lean flow of inventory to points of use, and providing a level of service that saves customers time and money. Fastenal’s product offering is complemented by a spectrum of services and solutions, including industrial vending (FAST Solutions<sup>SM</sup>), custom manufacturing, engineering support, highly-trained industry specialists, and various industrial services. Learn more at www.fastenal.com